VOTE ON TARIFF BILL THURSDAY

Senate Agrees to Act on the Measure Then.

OPPOSITION HAS COLLAPSED

So Senators Take But Little Interest in the Proceedings—Clapp Denounces Conference Report and Announces That He Will Not Vote for It—McCumber Delivers a Brief Address in Its Support.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The complete collapse of all important opposition to the conference report on the tariff bill was evidenced when the senate agreed to vote on that measure at 2 o'clock next Thursday. Half an hour after unanimous consent had been given for the adoption of that course a general disinclination on the part of senators to speak brought an early adjournment.

When the senate met the lack of interest in the proceedings was very evident. This had been caused by an agreement on the part of Western senators to vote on the conference report and to correct the hide and leather schedule by means of a concurrent resolution to be acted upon separately.

The form of the concurrent resolution was agreed upon in an informal conference in Senator Aldrich's committee room. Instructions are given by this resolution to the enrolling clerks of the senate and house to change the language of the proviso reducing duties on boots and shoes and harness.

The change will make dutiable at 10 per cent "boots and shoes, the upper leather of which is made wholly or in chief value from hides or skins of cattle, including calf skins." A similar change will be made in relation to harness, saddles and saddlery.

Range of Reduction Increased.

The effect of the amendment is to make the reduced duties on boots and shoes and harness and saddlery apply to such articles as are composed of leather, from the hides and skins of cattle and calf skins, instead of confining the reductions to articles made from hides which have hitherto been dutiable. The range of reduction is greatly increased.

The suggestion for an agreement to vote was made in the senate by Mr. Bailey, representing the minority, and at once concurred in by the chairman of the finance committee. The Texan intimated that there might be considerable debate on the concurrent resolution, but it is not believed that the discussion can be continued many hours.

Senator Culberson gave notice that he would seek to amend the concurrent resolution by placing cotton bagging on the free list, that article having been placed there by the senate and removed by the conference committee.

Questions by Senator Newlands in debate on the conference report called forth a statement from Mr. Aldrich to the effect that he believed the conference provision giving the president authority to gather information relating to the enforcement of the maximum and minimum clause was broader and would be found to be more effective than contemplated by the clause as originally adopted by the senate. It would, he thought, authorize the collection of statistics of cost of production at home and abroad.

Announcing that he could not vote for the conference report, Senator Clapp spoke at length in denunciation of the pending measure and Senator McCumber spoke briefly in its support.

College Graduate Killed.

Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 4.—William P. Mitchell, a graduate of Brown university this year, was killed by eight tons of pig iron which broke through a ceiling and fell upon him at his desk in the office of the Stanley Electric Manufacturing company. The iron had been stored in a room over the office.

Boy Burned to Death.

Menominee, Wis., Aug. 4.—Two boys, two and four years old, sons of P. N. Swensen, playing with matches set fire to a barn on his premises. Peter, aged four, was burned to death and the younger boy is probably fatally burned.

Kidnapped by Her Sister.

Sharon, Pa., Aug. 4.—Rosella Neff, eight years old, was kidnapped from the home of her grandparents supposedly by an older sister. The woman is said to have started west with the child. The sister lives in Kansas.

BANK CASHIER CONFESSES

Admits Embezzling Funds of the Institution.

Southern Pines, N. C., Aug. 4.—G. A. Kimball, cashier of the Citizens' bank of Southern Pines, surrendered to the directors of the bank and confessed to embezzlement of the institution's funds. In addition to the $15,000 charged in the warrant Kimball told the bank officers of $1,100 additional which he had misappropriated. Prominent citizens furnished $3,000 bond and he was released for a hearing Aug. 16. Later in the day Kimball turned over to the bank deeds to his and his wife's property, aggregating $8,000. He is bonded for $3,000. The depositors will decide whether he shall be prosecuted.

Kimball collapsed after making his confession and is in a serious physical condition.

FOUNTAIN PEN SAVES LIFE OF NEW YORKER

Deflects Bullet Fired at Him by a Woman.

New York, Aug. 4.—There was a shooting affair in the Waldorf-Astoria in which a woman and a man figured. The woman did the shooting; the man's life was saved by a fountain pen, which deflected the bullet and after inflicting a slight flesh wound dropped into his coat pocket.

The principals in the affair are Mrs. Mary A. Castle, thirty-six years old, and William D. Craig, a lawyer.

Craig, who is a member of the Rocky Mountain club, which has a suite of rooms in the hotel, was on his way to the club rooms to dress for dinner. Mrs. Castle, who had been waiting for him, tried to detain him, but Craig shook off the woman and went to the elevator. Mrs. Castle kept pace with him and as he was about to step into the elevator, she shot at him when the muzzle of the revolver was within an inch of his coat.

When detectives arrived, the woman was sitting on a lounge weeping hysterically. Taken to a police station she said she was an insurance agent and had a brother, Captain Henry Scott, stationed at Fort Morgan, near Mobile, Ala. She pointed to Craig who was standing nearby and after pleading for him to forgive her, said: "He is the cause of my trouble. He has thrown me over."

Craig said that he would press the charge against the woman.

KILLED HIM IN COLD BLOOD

Young Woman Confesses to Shooting Joe Rodi.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Aug. 4.—Mrs. Ben Macri, who is only seventeen years old, confessed that she killed Joe Rodi in cold blood. She defended her act by saying that she was forced to the deed by her husband's jealousy, he threatening to kill her if she failed to shoot Rodi. The woman has been in jail here since the crime was committed and has hitherto maintained that she acted in self-defense. Now she asserts that this theory of the killing was taught her by her husband. She told the authorities that Macri made her practice pistol shooting until she became expert.

The persons concerned in the case were friends in Italy, according to the woman's story.

KILLS WOMAN AND HIMSELF

Colorado Man Commits Murder and Suicide.

Denver, Aug. 4.—T. J. Halstead, a business man, and Mrs. Watson, known also as Bessie Brown of Sioux City, Ia., are dead as the result of a double shooting. Jealousy is supposed to have caused the tragedy.

Halstead shot the woman while she was at the telephone, after which he turned the weapon on himself.

Mrs. Watson is said to have been divorced recently in Sioux City, since then residing in Denver.

Fatal Quarrel Over Ball Game.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 4.—In a quarrel over a ball game at Lee City, Ky., W. F. Lawson was struck over the head and his skull crushed with a baseball bat in the hands of his brother, Clay Lawson. The injured man, who was forty years old, died in a hospital here.

BRONZE BUST OF J. J. HILL

Unveiled at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

JOHNSON ORATOR OF THE DAY

Minnesota's Governor Delivers the Principal Address at the State's Celebration of Her Day at the Fair. Declares the Time Has Come for the West to Throw Off the Shackles of the East.

Seattle, Aug. 4.—Minnesota celebrated her day at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition by unveiling a bronze bust of her most distinguished citizen, James J. Hill, the railroad builder.

John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota, came to Seattle to deliver the principal address and unloose the cord that bound about the monument the flags of Japan, Great Britain and the United States.

The crowd present at the ceremonies seemed to confirm a saying that Minnesota has contributed more people to the new state of Washington than has been done by any other state. In addition the number of Minnesotans present as visitors to the new state was unprecedentedly large. Besides Governor Johnson and his staff and Mayor James T. Haynes of Minneapolis the visitors included several hundred residents of the Twin Cities, who made the long journey to be present at Minnesota's day of glory at the fair.

The exercises were held in the world's fair auditorium. Judge Thomas Burke of this city presided and Bishop E. J. O'Dea offered a prayer. Addresses were delivered by Colonel Alden J. Blethen and former United States Senator John L. Wilson.

The crowd that assailed the gates of the fair Minnesota day was double that of New York day, and Governor

JAMES J. HILL.

Johnson's speech was heard by the largest audience that has filled the great auditorium since the opening of the fair.

So eager was the vast crowd to hear Governor Johnson that calls for him forcibly silenced Hon. Thomas Burke in his efforts to read letters and telegrams received from various important personages in Europe, Japan and America, and the Minnesota man was cheered to the echo by a standing throng when he advanced to begin his talk.

"It is time that the West threw off the shackles of the East. I would preach no sectional divisions and no sectional strifes, but Minnesota and Washington and the states between them, with those to the south of us, should rise in their might and claim for themselves that fair share of influence in the halls of congress and in the administration of national affairs to which they are entitled by every law of common sense, as well as of political economy."

This was the declaration of Governor Johnson in his address.

After Governor Johnson's address the audience proceeded to the bust of James J. Hill, in Klondike circle near the fine arts building. Here the monument was presented to the exposition and the University of Washington by J. M. Hawthorne, chairman of the monument construction committee. President J. C. Chilberg, for the exposition, and President T. F. Kane, for the university, accepted the gift.

Governor Johnson was shown additional honor during the fireworks display at the foot of the Pay Streak. His portrait in a set piece surrounded by brilliant fire was the feature.

The absence of James J. Hill was generally deplored.

The proof of success is in the ability to hold on to it.

SEVERE STORM IN MICHIGAN

Hail and Wind Cause Damage to Crops.

Detroit, Aug. 4.—One farmhouse and three large barns were destroyed when a terrific electrical, hail and wind storm struck near Romeo, Mich., forty miles from this city. The storm cut a swath nearly three-quarters of a mile in width, prostrating growing corn, scattering stacked wheat, cutting down fields of oats and injuring other crops. Hallstones in some places were four inches deep on the ground.

Telephone and telegraph wires were prostrated and several washouts occurred on the line of the Detroit United railway. No casualties have been reported.

A disastrous hail storm also visited Plymouth, cutting apples from trees and badly damaging other crops.

QUIET REIGNS EVERYWHERE

But Revolutionaries Threaten Further Trouble at Barcelona.

London, Aug. 4.—Telegraphing from Madrid, the correspondent of the Times says that the release of Senor Iglesias, editor of the revolutionary El Progreso, and other persons arrested for being implicated in the insurrection and the sudden relaxing of the censorship proves that the government is convinced that the trouble is ended.

The last embers of the rising in Catalonia were stamped out at Sabadell Tuesday.

A dispatch from Barcelona says that while quiet at present reigns everywhere, it is said from a good source that the revolutionaries intend again to take up arms if the prisoners are not liberated.

THANKS PEOPLE OF BRITISH EAST AFRICA

Roosevelt Is Grateful for Their Generous Hospitality.

Nairobi, B. E. A., Aug. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt and his son Kermit were the guests of honor at a public banquet given in Nairobi. Frederick J. Jackson, governor of British East Africa, was chairman and 175 persons sat at the table. Captain Sanderson, the town clerk of Nairobi, read an address of welcome to the former president of the United States, and afterward handed him the address enclosed in a section of an elephant tusk mounted in silver and with a silver chain. The American residents of the protectorate presented Mr. Roosevelt with a tobacco box made of the hoof of a rhinoceros, silver mounted; the skull of a rhinoceros, also mounted in silver, and a buffalo head.

Mr. Roosevelt, in reply to the toast proposed by Governor Jackson, said in part: "I wish to take this opportunity to thank the people of British East Africa for their generous and courteous hospitality. I have had a thorough good time. I am immensely interested in the country and its possibilities as an abode for white men. Very large tracts are fit for a fine population and healthy and prosperous settlements, and it would be a calamity to neglect them. But the settlers must be of the right type.

"I believe that one of the best feats performed by members of the white race in the past ten years is the building of the Uganda railroad. I am convinced that this country has a great agricultural and industrial future and it is the most attractive playground in the world. It most certainly presents excellent openings for capitalists and ample inducements should be offered them to come here. The homemaker and actual settler and not the speculator, should be encouraged in making this a white man's country."

MINISTER'S EFFORTS VAIN

Loses His Life in Trying to Save That of a Boy.

New London, Conn., Aug. 4.—Rev. H. L. Mitchell, rector of the Episcopal church at Plymouth, Conn., and Clarence Blakeslee, organist of the same church, were drowned in Fisher's Island sound. The clergyman lost his life trying to save the boy.

Ten Firemen Injured.

Pittsburg, Aug. 4.—Ten firemen were injured while fighting a fire that caused a loss estimated at $15,000 to the feed stables of the Union Stock Yards company. Two of the men were given the oxygen treatment in an effort to revive them. The fire was of unknown origin.

Allows Train to Behead Him.

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 4.—Edward Sherlock, aged thirty, killed himself by lying down on the track and allowing a train to cut off his head. He had been drinking heavily.

Availability.
A nobleman was once showing a friend a rare collection of precious stones which he had gathered at a great expense and enormous amount of labor. "And yet," he said, "they yield me no income."

His friend replied, "Come with me, and I will show you two stones which cost me but $5 each, yet they yield me a considerable income." He took the owner of the gems to his gristmill and pointed to two gray millstones which were always busy grinding out grist.—Success Magazine.

If She Had Not Married.
The lover of euphonious female names must look back with regret to the eighteenth century with its fragrant memories of Belinda, Arabella and Anabel. Yet in Spain euphony is still preserved. Could you have a more beautiful name than Juana Maria de los Delores de Leon? It is one of the ironies of history that the owner of these charming vocables was fated to be known in after life as Lady Smith and to bestow that much less attractive and euphonious title upon a town in South Africa.—London Chronicle.

The little grass widow found her newly married friend crying bitterly. "Why do you cry?" she asked her. "Quit it. It isn't worth your while. I used to cry like that the first two or three times, but I don't any more. I just go out now and get a divorce."—New York Press.

Mrs. Stalor—John, don't you think I need a new gown? This one is beginning to look shabby.

Mr. Stalor—I don't see anything the matter with it. You look well enough in it to suit me, and why should I pay money to make you more attractive to other men?

LIFE JOB OFFER FOR HONESTY

Brakeman Won't Leave Railroad and Is Promoted—He Found $30,000.

Declining a life position of $100 a month, Brakeman William J. Robelen of the Long Island railroad, who a few days ago found a hand bag belonging to Mrs. A. Schwab containing $30,000 worth of jewelry, announced recently that he would stick to railroading and was forthwith promoted from brakeman to be collector, which is but a step removed from that of conductor.

Robelen said he had been with the railroad four years and as he is only twenty-two years old he hopes ultimately to work up to a position in railroading that will eventually pay him seven times $100 a month.

It was on his return from Rockaway to Long Island City that Robelen found the hand bag in a seat in a passenger coach. Opening it he found it filled with diamonds and pearls, besides a sum of money. He turned it over to the company, and it was identified as the property of Mrs. A. Schwab of 315 West Eighty-fourth street, New York city, who had left it in the train when she got off at Hammels station. Representatives of Mrs. Schwab gave Robelen $100, two suits of clothes and offered him a life position at $100 a month.

Robelen will continue on his run. He declined the company's offer of two weeks' vacation with pay, saying that he preferred to "keep on the job."

Classic Noises.

Of all the men whose fate it has been to live in hourly dread of noise. Platti, the cellist, was chief. "I have lived," said he, "in Spain, where the serenades awaken you at every hour of night to inform you of the state of the weather. I have sojourned in Holland, where men are paid expressly to arouse you by shaking a rattle to tell you the hour and wish you good night. I have even 'slept' in Antwerp notwithstanding the chimes which play every half hour variations of the 'Carnival of Venice' and every half hour the bass drum air of the cald. Thus, you see, I am well organized for peace, yet I thirst for more than one man's blood."—London Chronicle.

POLITICS AND A POLECAT

Make Life Interesting for John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Aug. 4.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., qualified as a politician when, as the result of an energetic campaign by himself and wife, three of the five members of the Pocantico district school board were re-elected by practically unanimous vote. The opposition which developed to the ticket was dissipated several days ago, when Mr. Rockefeller returned home and became active in its behalf. A good part of the voters in the vicinity are employed on the Rockefeller estate.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller attended a meeting at the schoolhouse where the votes were counted. A small boy with a dog that had been in an encounter with a polecat caused a temporary adjournment while the janitor sprinkled carbolic acid about the room. Then the vote counting was resumed.

SAYS FAREWELL TO TAFT

Ambassador Takahira Will Return to Tokio.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Baron Takahira, Japanese ambassador to the United States, called at the White House to bid goodbye to Mr. Taft. Ambassador Takahira has arranged to leave Washington on Aug. 10 for Tokio. He has been summoned by his government, which desires to consult him in connection with the proposed revision of the treaties of commerce and navigation about to be undertaken by Japan with the powers of the world.

Reports have been current that Baron Takahira would be replaced by some other member of the Japanese diplomatic corps, but the ambassador has declared that he expects to return to Washington. He will sail on Aug. 17 from Seattle.

Earning a Spanking.

A lady who had company to tea reproved her little son several times, speaking, however, very gently. At last, out of patience, she said sharply: "Jimmy, if you don't keep still I'll send you away from the table!" "Yes, that's what you always do when there's company and there are not enough cakes to go round!" was the reply of the gifted youth.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Wise and Foolish Virgins.

As it happened, however, the five foolish virgins were observed in their perplexity by five wise men.

"Permit me!" quoth each of these and stepped up and filled a virgin's lamp for her, adding, "Now, you just about need somebody to look out for you, don't you, eh?"

And upon the five foolish virgins, blushing violently and looking shyly down, the five wise men lost no time in procuring licenses, and they all lived happily ever after.

As for the wise virgins, they sniffed some when they heard the news, inadvertently with considerable acerbity on the ancient mystery of the way of a man with a maid and let it go at that.—Puck.

DIAMOND GOWN FOR ACTRESS

Anna Held Orders Designer to Make Most Startling Dress in the World.

Anna Held, the actress, is determined to make her "farewell" appearance in a veritable "diamond gown." For this purpose Miss Held gathered all her jewelry, with the exception of her pearls, a few rings, etc., and gave them to a skillful designer in Paris with the naive instruction, "Take these jewels and make the most startling dress in the world."

The gown itself is of the softest oriental fabric of rose pink color. Over this is draped a filmy silver tissue, embroidered around the lower edge with great crimson princesses. The left side of the gown opens over a scanty underdress in a paler shade of pink, which is drawn closely to the figure. The bodice and sleeves on this same side are entirely composed of an arabesque design of purest white stones, hundreds of diamonds being used to carry out this inspiration.

Where the costume opens from hip to knee clasps of diamond solitaires hold it in place. The cloak worn at the same time is of a soft gray meteor, lined with varying shades of pink and the same color scheme of red princesses is carried out in delicate hand painting. A deep fringe of the latest novelty known as pearl pipes finishes the lower edge of this superb garment.—New York American.

National Target Range.

United States army officers favor a national target range of sufficient area for all kinds of practice for the army, navy and marine corps. The suggestion is to buy 15,000 or 20,000 acres of land in Virginia, near Washington.

SAYS CITY IS STARTING RIGHT

Bond Bidders Who Were Here Last Fall Talk of Water-works Situation

APPROVE THE CONDEMNATION Say that Securing Present Plant is Essential to Successful Bond Sale

W. H. H. Cash, of New Lisbon, Wis., and G. A. Elder, of Duluth, two of the leading bond buyers who were bidders for the $120,000,000 issue of last year, were in the city today. They had been at Walker to bid on $63,950 in refunding bonds issued by Cass county. The proceedings, however, were found to be defective and that the entire matter will have to be gone over again.

While in this city the gentlemen discussed the situation in Brainerd freely. Mr. Cash, especially, was outspoken in approval of the condemnation of the present plant, and remarked that the city was now going at it right, that they were taking the advice that he gave when in the city at the time of the bond sale last fall. He repeated his statement that bond buyers were not looking for lawsuits and said that if Brainerd got matters fixed up with the water company so that all danger of competing plants or lawsuits from that source were done away with, the bonds would find a ready sale.

Firemen Overcome by Smoke.

New York, Aug. 4.—Firemen fought for more than an hour to extinguish a fire in the forward hold of the steamship Colon, a 4,000-ton vessel of the Panama Railroad Steamship line, which broke out as she was being loaded at her pier in the North river. Several firemen were overcome by the dense smoke. The damage is estimated at $2,500.

A BRAINERD CASE

Many More Like it in Brainerd

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Brainerd. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such conclusive evidence.

Mrs. Caroline Sundberg, living at 1504 E. Pine St., S. E., Brainerd, Minn., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have earned my highest endorsement. Before I used this remedy I suffered for several years from backache. The kidney secretions were unnatural in appearance, and otherwise disordered. I was distressed with dizzy spells after standing for some time, and at times my feet would become swollen and pained me intensely. The doctors I consulted said I was suffering from kidney trouble but their medicine failed to help me. Finally I was told about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box from H. P. Dunn's drug store. Since using this remedy I have been troubled but little from pain in my back and my feet do not swell as formerly. If my word will help other sufferers I give this testimonial gladly."

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Proceedings of the County Commissioners, Meeting Held Aug. 3, 1909

Meeting called to order at 10:30 a. m. All members present.

Minutes of last regular meeting and of special meeting July 19th and Board of Equalization were read and approved.

Two bidders appeared to buy the safe owned by the county. It was finally sold to A. L. Hoffman for $27.00.

Letter was read from J. L. Smith asking that the valuation be reduced on the Sleeper Block. Same was placed on file but no further action was taken.

A motion was made and carried to reconsider the action of the board at the last meeting allowing only $3.00 on N. J. Nesheim's bill of $6.00 and a motion prevailed to allow the bill in full.

Petition for new school district in the neighborhood of Mission, signed by Albert Sabin and others, was presented to the board. The petition was accepted and the auditor directed to issue proper notices for a hearing Sept. 7th at 2 o'clock p. m. Said petition affects Dist. No. 43-60-64-93- and 86 and includes the following territory: S½ Sec. 22, S½ Sec. 23, S½ Sec. 24, all of Sec. 25-26-27-34-35 and Frl. Sec. 36 in Twp. 136, Rge. 27 and the S½ Sec. 19, all of Sec. 29-30-31-32 Twp. 136, Rge. 26; Frl. Sec. 2-3, Twp. 135, Rge. 27; also Frl. Sec. 8-9-16-17, Twp. 47 Rge. 29.

The bond of A. D. Peterson, contractor of state road No. 3 in the sum of $1400.00 with the National Surety Co. as surety, was approved and placed on file.

Board adjourned until 2 p. m.

I. U. White submitted plans for new barn at farm and the same was accepted and placed on file, and the Auditor was instructed to advertise for bids on the building to be opened by the board on August 14th, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Dr. Beise appeared and objected to the allowance of his bill of $25.00 for autopsy at $6.00 and mileage. The Board took no further action in the matter.

Requisition for supplies at the farm were ordered purchased.

The following report of the farm for the month of July was approved and placed on file:

Siamese Beliefs.

One of the strangest beliefs of the Siamese is that they must under no circumstances take life, and the Buddhist priest goes so far as to strain insects out of his water not because he thinks them nasty, but because it would be wrong to kill them. Another is not to bathe after dark lest he should crush insects while drying himself. Yet he does not mind eating meat which others have killed, and he has no objection to taking fish out of the sea and leaving them to die.—London Standard.

In this almost universal age of electricity copper has become one of the most indispensable of the metals. If civilization today were confronted with the ultimatum "Give up your gold or give up your copper" probably the world's gold mines would be deserted in preference.—Chicago Tribune.

Delay in commencing treatment for a slight irregularity that could have been cured quickly by Foley's Kidney Remedy may result in a serious kidney disease. Foley's kidney Remedy builds up the worn out tissues and strengthens these organs. H. P. Dunn. mwf Little Willie—I hate to have my face washed. Little Bobby—So do I. I wish I was a big man and could wear whiskers.—Philadelphia Record.

Not Inherited.

Nothing would induce good old Dr. Dore to believe that gout was hereditary. A very young man once consulted him in his first attack.

"You call this gout, Willie?" said the doctor. "Pooh, pooh! You have not yet earned that costly privilege."

"But my father, sir, and my grandfather!" said Willie. "It is in my blood by right of inheritance."

"Nonsense!" frowned the doctor. "You may as well tell one you have a broken leg in your veins by inheritance."—Youth's Companion.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms. H. P. Dunn. mwf

Brainerd Man Injured.

The Little Falls Transcript says Jack McEwan, of Brainerd was quite seriously injured at that place on Sunday. McEwan was bound for his home in Brainerd and had intended to board No. 7, the noon local, and go to Staples. At that place he would take a train across to Brainerd, as No. 91, the Brainerd local, does not run on Sundays. While waiting for the train to depart, McEwan went to the further end of the platform and enjoyed a smoke. When the train started to leave the station he ran to catch the moving coaches only to find that the vestibules had been closed. The man jumped on the steps of one of the moving cars, turned his back to the engine and swung away from the car that he might reach far enough to tap the windows and call the attention of the train crew to his position. In so doing, McEwan swung too far from the coach and struck his head against a freight car on the next track.

The man was unconscious for a time but was revived and able to resume his journey in a short time.

B. P. O ELKS, ATTENTION!

PREPARING FOR A STRIKE

Chicago Street Railway Companies Getting Ready for Trouble.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Active preparations to meet a strike are being made by officials of the street railway lines of this city. Old power houses are being fitted up as sleeping quarters for strike-breakers. E. L. Reed, who organized the Employers' Teaming company, which broke the teamsters' strike in 1905, has charge of the hiring of strike-breakers. He stated that he had 5,000 men competent to handle street cars on call, and that 150 men were available in Boston and 100 in Kansas City. Arrangements have been made with caterers to feed the nonunion men in the barns and power houses. The aim of the companies is to prevent a complete tie-up on any of its lines and it was said that cars will be kept running no matter what the present employes finally may determine to do.

Members of the Illinois state board of arbitration have started for Chicago to see if they can ward off the trouble.

Flesh-Forming Food.

When you buy a package of Samose, the great flesh forming food, weigh yourself and see how much you gain in the first week's use. H. P. Dunn will tell of many of his customers who a month or so ago were thin, pale and haggard, but who are now, through the use of Samose, plump, strong and happy, with perfect health and attractive flesh. He has seen so many instances of the wonderful power of Samose to restore the weak and sick to strength and health, and to make good natural flesh that he give his personal guarantee with every package of Samose he sells to refund the money if it does not prove satisfactory.

Samose is a pure preparation, and can be used with absolute confidence by the most delicate. It gives remarkable results with children who are weak and run down and without appetite. It builds up thin, pale, puny girl and woman to perfect plumpness and health. It is the only flesh-forming food of its kind and in addition, it strengthens every organ of the body, restoring strength and health to the whole system.

When Men Powdered Their Faces.
The use of powders for the hair and face, which began in the sixteenth century, infected the men. Henry III had the habit of parading the streets of Paris, his face covered with white and red paste, like a faded coquette, and his hair filled with violet powder and scented with musk. Powders were made of all colors, and the infatuation was such that servant girls were afraid to be seen in public with their hair of the natural color and, not being able to buy that used by their employers, employed sawdust as a substitute

Mills called attention to this fact and took a hand in questioning him. Dr.
Baker said that in his opinion Thaw was not only insane now, but a dangerous person to be at large.

It was shortly after this declaration that Mr. Jerome quickly called Thaw to the stand. He was pale and apparently shaken and kept removing and wiping his eyeglasses.

The district attorney put some rather incoherent notes written by the prisoner in evidence and asked him to explain them. After parries back and forth and laborious explanations by Thaw as to the meaning of certain writings he said:

"And I want you to know, Mr. Jerome, that many of these notes you call suggestions were written at the request of my lawyers."

Jerome Questions Thaw.

Mr. Jerome pointed his finger at the witness and said:

"Do you mean to sit there and tell us, who observed you in both homicide trials, that you did not believe you knew more about the case than your lawyers did?"

"I do," was Thaw's quick reply.

"You were nice and docile all the time?"

"I think I behaved myself."

"Never discharged any lawyers?"

"Oh, yes; I discharged some lawyers."

"And you did not interfere at all?"

"Only when I thought it was absolutely necessary."

"Then you did offer some suggestions, I take it?" said the district attorney, sarcastically.

"Oh, yes, some," was the reply.

Thaw was excused after a bit more of this ordeal and Dr. Austin Flint was called. Dr. Flint described a paranoid as a person dominated by certain delusions, whose mental and physical state might not otherwise be affected, except insofar as these delusions influenced him. The progress of the disease was usually very slow, he said. It rarely caused death and except in the last stages the patient might retain his faculties unimpaired.

"Paranoiacs," he concluded impres-sively, "never recover."

Dr. Hirsch varied the general verdict by declaring Thaw a "degenerate paranoiac."

Charles Morschauer, Thaw's attorney, attacked this testimony with every legal expedient. In Dr. Flint's case he endeavored to show that he had given contradictory testimony in two previous cases where he appeared as an expert. He caused Dr. Hirsch some unhappy moments by inquiring about a book he is writing.

"Do you, in this book, claim that Jesus Christ was a paranoiac?" he asked.

The alienist's reply was that he would not give any opinion on the subject.

The alienists delivered their opinions of Thaw in answer to Jerome's hypothetical question, only a small part of which was read. It dealt mainly with Thaw's family history and his early life.

WILL NOT SURRENDER NEGRO

Admiral Schroeder Refuses to Let State Police Have Pupilist.

Provincetown, Mass., Aug. 4.—Rear Admiral Schroeder refused to surrender Davis W. Williams of Marietta, Ga., to the state police, who tried to arrest Williams as a result of the boxing bout held on the battleship Vermont Friday night, when his opponent, Harrison H. Foster, was so badly injured that he died soon after.
Both men are negro mess hands on the ship.

The warrant charged Williams with manslaughter. Admiral Schroeder said that he did not deny the jurisdiction of the state, but that the government had instituted an inquiry and he preferred to wait until that investigation had been concluded before acting further in the matter. He promised that he would notify the state police of the result of the inquiry and as to whether he would give up Williams.

Flying Age and Air Conquerors

Significant Features and Effect of Louis Blériot's Flight From Calais to Dover, Across the English Channel, in a Monoplane. :: :: ::

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

AS the nineteenth century earned the name of the age of steam and electricity, so the twentieth promises to win the title of the flying age. Already a man has flown across the English channel, which may be as much of a milepost in its way as Marconi's achievement of sending a wireless message across the same turbulent neck of water a few years ago. Marconi's feat was the first marked success that called the world's attention to the fact that telegraphing without wires was an accomplishment, a triumph that was speedily followed by the greater victory of flashing the messages of the air across the Atlantic. It was but yesterday that these things happened, yet so swiftly do we move in this era of scientific enchantment that today wireless telegraphy is in commercial use in all parts of the earth.

Louis Blériot's feat of flying across the English channel is an even greater achievement than that of Marconi, yet it is not so startling, since the Wright brothers and others had already conducted longer flights. For example, only a few days before the crossing of the channel, Henry Farman, an Englishman, had flown from Chalons to Sulpes, France, a distance of forty miles, thus breaking Blériot's own previous record of twenty-five miles from Etampes to Orleans, the longest cross country flight of an aero-plane up to that time. The Wrights and most other aviators have never attempted cross country hikes, but have confined themselves to prescribed courses, returning to the place of starting.

The flight across the channel is a striking and dramatic thing in itself, even if longer flights above land had as a Daredevil of the Air—Achievements of the Wright Brothers and Other Aeronauts. :: :: ::

bert Latham, plunged into the sea in trying to make the same crossing. So take it all in all the first flight across the English channel is sufficiently notable despite the previous triumphs of the flying Wrights, Farman, Santos-Dumont and all the rest.

Ten Years From Marconi to Blériot.

Returning to the initial comparison with Marconi in sending his first wireless across the channel, the query naturally suggests itself: Will aerial navigation go forward by the same leaps and bounds in the next ten years that aerial telegraphy has experienced in the ten years that have passed since the first message was flashed from England to the continent? And by the way, it is not without interest that it was exactly a decade which passed between the two triumphs, Marconi accomplishing his success in 1899 and Blériot in 1909. Was ever any age in the history of the world so packed with marvels?
Either of these deeds in a former time would have been sufficient alone to have made a whole age illustrious, yet in this day, when the drivers of the car of Progress could be arrested any time for overspeeding, we jam both of them into ten years of time and prepare ourselves for the next wonder that our inventors may perform!

Only a few days after the channel passage Orville Wright in America broke all records for a two man flight by remaining in the air over one hour and twenty minutes in his government trials at Fort Myer. Our American pioneers of the aeroplane are not yet outclassed. They it was who first made flight in a heavier than air machine a practical success, they it was who have been copied by the French and other inventors, and so it is but poetic justice that whatever triumphs

THREE CONQUERORS OF THE AIR AND TWO OF THEIR FLY-ING MACHINES.

already been made, and it is made more striking and dramatic because of a few attendant incidents. One of these was that Blériot at the time was crippled from a previous flight and left behind him a pair of crutches as he mounted his machine to fly into fame. "If I cannot walk, I will show them I can fly," he said. He showed them. Another thing that made this event remarkable is that it was done with a monoplane weighing only 600 pounds and having wings that fold up until the machine is no larger than an automobile. The Wright machines and most of the other successful ones are biplanes. The peculiarity of the monoplane, which is almost exclusively a French development, is that it has greater speed than the biplane, but less stability, that is, it is more easily overbalanced by unexpected air currents.

Yet another significant feature of M.
Blériot's achievement is the speed with which the flight was made. From Calais to Dover, where the crossing was made, the English channel is twenty-one miles wide, making about twenty-three miles from landing place to landing place. Yet the entire trip was made in a half hour, making an average rate of over forty-five miles an hour, which at times was said to have been sixty miles. Yet a further circumstance that adds to the pic-turesqueness of this first aeroplane trip from France to England is the character of the aviator. Blériot is known as a daredevil of the air. He seemingly fears nothing.

His Nerve Unshaken.

All sorts of hairbreadth escapes have not shaken his nerve. In the past he has had innumerable accidents and his friends have always predicted that he would kill himself as surely as the sparks fly upward. Tumbles with him have become a habit. One of his practices is to throw himself on a wing of his machine as he falls. This breaks the wing but saves the man. An operator with that audacity and cool courage should fly and that is just what Blériot has done. And a final attendant happening, or rather pair of happenings, that sets off this daring Frenchman's feat is the fact that just before and just after Blériot's remarkable flight another French aviator, Hu-are accomplished by others they should yet play the star engagements and score the record triumphs.

Navigating the Fogs.

It has long been suggested that the fogs across the English channel are heavy enough to navigate, and perhaps Blériot's feat may be taken as proof of this. On the same theory the vicinity of London should be ideal for biplanes, monoplanes and any other sort of a plane that could sail around, in or on a fog. With such meaty, ponderous and substantial fogs as those of London it would be impossible for anything so light as an airship to fall through.

The channel is a historic body of water that has been the graveyard of more ships than any equal stretch of sea on the planet. Perhaps its turbulence has done more than British fortifications to protect John Bull from invasion. William the Conqueror managed to break across it, but Napoleon could never send over anything more formidable than a large scare.

Relying on the diabolical disposition of the English channel, J. Bull has grown chesky and shaken his fist at the world. Now that people are learning to fly and can thus ignore his old channel the portly gentleman has suddenly lost his cocky air and has grown dabby from fear. The mere mention of an airship is sufficient to give the whole English press a spasm and to cause the ministerial benches of parliament to fairly reek with gloom. A few weeks ago the British were scared to death of the Zeppelin dirigible balloon that had been flying about to amuse people at the German fairs, and now the panic shifts the cause of its being the Blériot's monoplane. That a British Dreadnought should be afraid of a monoplane of the Blériot type is like an elephant throwing a fit at sight of a butterfly.

English Channel Out of Commission.

The thing that really disturbs our British friends in all this is that they no longer have the natural depravity of the English channel to fall back on.
They had counted on that as a shield and a defense forever. Now that a vehicle has been found that can fly above the raging, churning, uncertain and treacherous neck of water, heed ing it, indeed, no more than a summer breeze, it is no wonder that the dwellers on the "right little, tight little" Isle are disturbed. Their boasted isolation has departed. Their water wall has melted like a mist. They are suddenly brought on a level with other peoples.

It is just as easy for an aeroplane to fly over their roaring and terrifying channel as it is to fly over an equal stretch of French meadows.

No wonder that the Britons are frantically playing "An Englishman's Home" and tremblingly scanning the heavens for the next flock of French aeroplanes or covey of German dirigibles that are on their way to drop infernal machines all over London.
"Thus conscience doth make cowards of us all," John Bull, when he remembers the mean things he has done to other nations, depending on that "water wall" of the English channel to protect him, cannot understand why the other nations do not get even, now that the beginning of the flying age has brought them the opportunity. He knows that he would have revenge if the shoe were on the other foot. It is this uneasy feeling, no doubt, that has spread the terror over England that is so mysterious to the rest of the world.
John Bull knows that he has richly earned a licking, and now that everybody else has learned to fly he sits in chattering terror lest some of them give him his deserts.

He is probably safe. The other lands are so busy perfecting their air craft that they have no time to bother with a craven who can extract no higher sentiments for the wonderful time now dawning than an unreasoning and unmanly fear for his own personal safety. While all other lands are entranced in the day dawn of a new era, he alone is grieving that his walls of exclusion are melting away and his mastery of the seas will not serve him in an age when the air is to become the highway of the world. He has gone on building Dreadnoughts while other nations have built biplanes, mo-noplanes and dirigibles.

Let Him Get Used to It.

John Bull may be depended on to get over his fright at the new wonder, even as the old family horse grows accustomed to the railway and the automobile. When Dobbin finds that each train and auto is not bent on his individual destruction, but goes on regardless of his very existence, he in time becomes reassured. And when Mr.
Bull discovers that the flying age arrived not with intent to bring about his destruction and that it goes se-crenely on its way as if no such portly and beef eating gentleman were on the planet, he may become as reassured as Dobbin. He will have opportunity as the Blériot machine is followed by successors, first in singles and next in flocks and droves. Then Mr. Bull may familiarize himself with the airship in all its aspects, and the panic will disappear. But there is no gainsaying that he is scared now.

The flying age is here. On Aug. 22, at Rheims, France, is to be held an international tournament of fliers in which records will be broken and maybe machines and necks also. Glenn H. Curtiss, the man who won the prizes at the Morris park races in New York city and that afterward flew for fifty-two minutes at Hempstead, will represent America. Mr. Curtiss has a biplane, but perhaps the lightest machine of them all, weighing only 550 pounds with the operator. The motor on Mr. Curtiss' aeroplane is said to be a marvel of lightness and power.

Aeronautics has today become a recognized department of human thought and activity. In every leading government large sums are now set aside for the pursuit of the science, aerial navies are being organized, thousands of the world's best inventors are wrestling with the problem and perfecting the vehicles of flight, and in a few years more it will become plain to all that a new day has arisen for humanity and that the kingdom of the air is at hand.

WONDER ROSEBUSH.

Horticultural Wizard Working on One to Bear a Hundred Varieties.

One bush containing a hundred varieties of roses! That is the ambition of George Shima, better known as the California "potato king," one of the wealthiest Japanese in the state.

And Shima's dream may come true
With infinite care Hugo Lillenthal, Berkeley (Cal.) horticulturist and landscape gardener, founder of the Juvenile Horticultural society, is pruning trimming and grafting in an effort to produce the wonder bush. Lillenthal has promised Shima that he will produce a rosebush that will grow 100 varieties in red, yellow and snowy white.

Shima recently built a magnificent home in College avenue, Berkeley. He commemorated the event by writing a check for $100 for the University of California to furnish a students' room in the university sanitarium.

When he began the planting of a garden Lillenthal was employed. Now Shima's garden is rapidly becoming talked of throughout Berkeley, though the college town has always been the home of magnificent flowers. But the wealthy Japanese was not satisfied He wanted something different from his fellows. So he conceived the idea of a rose bush bearing 100 varieties.
"It can be done," said Lillenthal.
"Go ahead and produce it, then," said Shima.

Noiseless Typewriter.

A noiseless typewriter of Vienna construction will soon be put upon the market. The inventor guarantees that in a room where fifty or more of his typewriters are operated not a sound can be heard except the typists in conversation.
